Everything you need to know has been executed in plain English and included in this special limited-edition report. Examine it risk-free for 60 days. Unconditional money back guarantee.

This is one of the most practical and enlightening reports ever released. Page after page of little-known, up-to-the-minute source information on virtually every type of collectible being sold today. Just imagine rummaging through your dusty attic or garage — getting ready to throw away your old "junk" — and stumbling across an old postcard . . . or a beloved childhood doll . . . or even Aunt Millie's ancient hatpin. Wait a minute. Don't throw this stuff away. Because it might bring you hundreds . . . even THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS!

Believe It Or Not, Almost Everything Is Worth Something . . . To A Collector!

What's more, you may be holding a valuable, even priceless piece of merchandise that is worth a bundle. For instance, an autographed baseball bat by this former major league player (see page 22) is worth around $1,000 . . . while a ball signed by this player (page 22) recently sold for more than $2,500. And that's just the beginning. Perhaps you have some old kitchen products? This 1909 GE appliance (see page 38) has sold for $1,000. And this common household product has gone from being valued at just $1 to now selling for nearly $900. How about old radio and television sets? This top-of-the-line TV back in 1940 (see page 56) now brings as much as $7,500. And this radio (page 56) easily yields $1,800.00.
